

THE VALENTINO FORMULA

Robert Stein is the founder a club of silent star aficionados. He has been obsessed, in particular, with the legendary screen star Rudolph Valentino since childhood. In 1953, the 24-year old uncovers clues that lead him to believe his father was murdered for a formula that, if completed, would bring Valentino back to life. Stein uncovers circumstances that make the Valentino Formula credible. But where is it? Stein finds out his father had sold it in 1933 on the day he was murdered. He figures that finding his fathers killer would not only allow him to avenge for the murder, but also lead him to the formula. Stein will stop at nothing in searching for the Valentino Formula. Should he find it, he is willing to murder to complete it and have his talk with Rudolph Valentino. The Valentino Formula is a Los Angeles based story that begins in the Ocean Park of 1924 and spans over eight decades. Nefarious Hollywood fanatics, a criminal organization providing services to the wealthy, a stubborn LAPD detective, and a couple of amateur Hollywood sleuths are all part of this fast moving mystery/suspense tale. About the Author Michael Oldham is the author of five Hollywood-related books. The Valentino Formula is a novelization of his vast Hollywood knowledge. It is sprinkled with bio bits of not only Rudolph Valentino, but many other silent stars that Oldham has become familiar with while researching for his books and pursuing his enjoyment of the silent-film era.
