

In Mortal Combat: The Conflict of Life and Death in Zolas Rougon-Macquart

This study offers a new interpretation of Zolas theme of creation and destruction by viewing life and death as irreconcilably opposed rather than complementary and mutually dependent. Professor Haavik undertakes a close reading of six novels from the Rougon-Macquart series. The specific conflicts of these works are seen as facets of the fundamental struggle between life and death, progressing from the reign of death at the beginning of the series to the final victory of life.
