

Hitlers Banner (Foxys War) (Volume 2)

There is nothing funny about war, but it helps to have a sense of humour to survive.

When Foxy joined the army, hed made sure it was as a driver in the Service Corps: things are always falling off the backs of lorries. France at that time was wide open for business black market business and Foxy had wasted no time in exploiting the opportunities to the full. There had been virtually no fighting during the winter of 1939/40, a period known as the phoney war, and there was nothing to disrupt the flow of profits, but on the 10th of May 1940 Hitler ruined everything by turning the phoney war into a real one, and Foxy now finds himself doing the one thing he had not planned to do when he enlisted: holding a rifle Oh what a lovely war! If Id know it was going to be like this Id never have volunteered. The German Armys trying to kill me and the British Army keeps bunging me into situations thatll get me killed. But what I really want to know is: why have the Germans started putting up posters with my picture on them? I mean, theres a war on for Christs sake; youd think the Jerries would have something better to do.
